1. F/O Frank L. Barnes....ASN T-121040.....Org. Stout Field

TO: The Surgeon, Dispensary, Stout Fld.

1. Diagnosis: Agree with above diagnosis, tho I view it as having a situational aspect, that is a fundamental underlying "nervousness" in the personality, which was brought more into the open with psychosomatic symptoms when he was experiencing the discomforts of African service and the type of living conditions etc. he seems to have achieved control of the underlying anxiety and denies symptoms at the present time. Sincere fellow. I would be inclined to rely on his sincerity and on his ability to acknowledge any return of symptoms. Recommend he be allowed to fly-again. Question of foreign service might be left for determination after he has again been back to duty.

Brief medical history of the case:

CHIEF COMPLAINT: Nervousness.

PRESENT ILLNESS: This 27 year old rated pilot was admitted to this hospital on 28 November 1944. He entered the Army 9 August 1940 as an enlisted man, was commissioned as a pilot 25 January 1943, went overseas in May 1943 and flew no missions. His duty assignment was that of a glider pilot. He returned to the states 5 November 1943 due to a psychoneurosis. In March 1943 he began to complain of easy fatigability with vague recurrent abdominal distress. He was hospitalized on several occasions for observation and on one hospital admission an appendectomy was performed without relief of symptoms. His complaints persisted while overseas, and it was eventually necessary to evacuate him to this country. This officer was previously hospitalized and met a Medical Disposition Board at this hospital in January 1944, at which time his diagnosis was found to be psychoneurosis, mixed type, mild, EPTAD, following which he was placed on temporary limited service confined to the continental United States. Since leaving this hospital, he was eventually returned to glider flying and resumed his flying status in May 1944. However, he was again grounded in September 1944 at Bergstrom Field due to flying difficulties. His present admission was brought about due to the expiration of his period of temporary limited service and his desire to be returned to general military service. He states that in this interval of time he has been feeling quite well since September of this year and that his headaches are extremely infrequent and that he had abdominal distress only on rare occasions and that he was no longer troubled by feelings of excessive fatigue.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATION: Entirely negative.

LABORATORY: Within normal limits.

CONSULTATIONS: Officer was seen in consultation by the Neuropsychiatric Department, who after a careful review of this patient's history and physical examination, feels that this officer is a mildly unstable individual who in the recent past has exhibited moderately incapacitating psychoneurotic symptoms, but who has now shown sufficient improvement so that he can be regarded as recovered for all practical purposes, and made the diagnosis of psychoneurosis, mixed type, mild, recovered, and recommended that he be returned to full duty. Flight Surgeon Consultant recommends return to general military service, and indefinite suspension from flying.
