K. Elige B. Dixon, b. Feb. 15, 1895 d. Oct. 18, 1918
Elige B. was killed during World War I, he was hit in the leg by shrapnel and bled to death during a battle in Germany.

The following poem was written by Elige B. in 1917 just before he went overseas.

Tis the night before Xmas and all through the town,
The homesick soldier boys are roaming around.
They are thinking of home and the comforts therein,
But they are fully determined a victory to win.

Therefore we must stay and keep constantly at drill;
We will come out successfully if it's our Masters will.
All the folks back home will just keep up content
For the time we are soldiering we have willing spent.

We have left good homes and positions too,
But we are fully determined to go on straight through
Our drilling camp we do every day
And I must tell you now it is different from play.

We think for a minute and then we all say
"It is for a just cause that we are toiling this way"
We just shout with pleasure, watch out Kaiser Bill
We started for Berlin and we are on our way still.

Some of our boys have gone on ahead
But they are followed by so many they have nothing to dread.
When we have captured the Kaiser, and the war is all o'er,
We will then return to our own native shore.

We will hold Old Glory high in the air, and our motto be as ever, "keep her waving there."

Elige B's remains were returned to the U.S. in 1920.
